

New for ICAST: No More Missing Short Strikes With Gamakatsu's G-Power Stinger Trailer Hook

Tacoma, Washington (July 16, 2020)

Colder water temps can mean lethargic fish, and that can result in many short strikes. Gamakatsu has a simple solution to awaken sleepy fish--its new innovative G-Power Stinger Trailer Hook. The days of big and bulky trailer hooks following behind your spinnerbait are gone.

The new G-Power Stinger Trailer Hook brilliance comes from Gamakatsu's famous B10S series of fly hooks and the expertise of Professional Bass angler Aaron Martens. With its strategically designed angle of the eye, this hook runs right through the water column presenting a life-like presentation allowing you to have more hookups. To make this stinger hook even more efficient, Gamakatsu has paired it with a silicone stopper to be placed just above the eye, preventing the hook from sliding up to the barb of the main hook shown here.
